WILD WEST IN EARNEST.

A Story of a Circus Foud Between India It is only a few years since the success of the Wild West show of the wellknown Buffale Bill, an aggregation talented acts were hardly more familiar to the democratic populace of America than to the tottering crowned heads of Europe, had raised at home a score of imitators. Every county fair which was a fair followed up its hoss racing snaps by a terrific discharge of blank cartridges in which the pursuing red-devils of the untamed prairies, the fleeing emigrant outfit, and the reset scouts or cowboys infested the smoke of battle. Every circus which was a circus rounded up its entertain-ment with a similar exhibition. Public taste clamored for these excitations.

Among others who thought they their business as men whose trade it was to note the general pulse and prescribe accordingly were the brothers Sells. Three years ago they professed to take water from no oppo-sition. Their Indians were the genuine Indian article and their cowboys had been specially imported from lands where cowboys are epidemic. Their stock of blank cartridges was immense and the amount of noise and smoke they could create when an appreciative audience looked on in wonder was something quite out of sight. Whereve they went they conquered.

The summer drifted in, and one night in midheat weather found the Sells Bros, and their circus, their cowboys, and their Indians in the little city of Clinton, la. Tweive thousand people turned out that night to see the circus and witness the heroic cowbor semis rescue the emigrant maiden from the clutches of the savage.

Your Indian is a man of serious views. Your cowboy isn't. The latter has notions which are mixed up with practical lokes and bursts of sardonic Some of this sort of thing is too high for the Indian mentally. The Indian does not wholly graspit, and when he does he fails to like it.

In the Sells Bros.' show of three years ago the rampant cowboy spirit had risen to the fact that the Indian was fair game for its exuberance When an Indian became owner of a cigar or a plug of tobacco upon the rialto of life within the ring, cowboy fingers snapped it from his possession When an Indian presumed to take the air on horseback, cowboy lariats were apt to play him tricks. The cowboys reviled his blanket costumes. The cowboy made light of many of his uncivil-ized peculiarities. Bad blood thickened apace. Some Indian cars had been pinched and some Indian faces had been ostentationsly slapped by the truculent

There were mutterines abrew when the show reached Clinton. One word that rankled in the Indian bosom was 'coward." The Indian bosom determined to vindicate its intrepidity. Very quietly the Indians loaded their Winchesters with real instead of mock eartridges and at quietly sent word to their hereditary foes that the battle of the afternoon would not be a sham one. This pleased the plainsmen. There was no soul among them with sense of grace enough to deny the challenge or inform the management that there awaited it the most singular and foolish and criminal duel ever fought at the expense of innocent blood. They loaded their own repeating rifles with ball as well as powder and cooly waited.

When the bell tapped for the Wild mimic chase occurred. The capture piece of work." followed. After that the resene. When the cowboys charged, the Indians fired. But real bullets flew. Hanging upon their horses' flanks, with only one hand and thigh exposed the combatants circled round the chariot way, exchanging deadly volumes. Suddenly a panic seized the great audience. Here a man fell dead, pierced by a ball. There another bled, and here again another fell and yet another still; until the great tent became a mass of terrified humanity, struggling for escape, scarce knowing what had occurred, unthink ing, desperate for exit. The audience poured out as it might into the exterior darkness. The rifles had been emptied, and the din of exploding powder no longer aided confusion to the tumultnous cries of the burt Manager Barrett, alert and eager in in quiry, learned almost before the last of a Winchester found his ears of what had taken place. No parapher nalia of any show on earth ever disappeared as did that one of Selis Bros. Before the excited citizens of Clinton really knew what had occurred the whole circus had been bundled upon the waiting and adjacent train, and was speeding fast for the borders of the state, with orders not to stop until the frontier had been crossed. Barrett himself alone remained behind, and with him he had $10,000 in eash. Four persons in that audience were killed outright by this folly. Two of them were women, and the body of one of these was found beneath the seats with a baby still clinging to a pulseless breast. There were eleven wounded ones among the spectators. A dozen of the combatants were shot in the thigh or arm. One Indian lost an ear and one cowboy received a bullet in the faw.

Barrett's keenness and his ten thousand dollars stood Sells Bros. in great stead. He talked mysteriously, bluffed, bought, paid indemnities and finally hushed up the truth. When he was through his money was all gone, but the facts were hidden. No one knew that a terrible accident for which no one was morally responsible had taken place. Few know it to-day. The truth never secured publication, and the press reports of the time dwelt only upon the results of a mistake of the cartridge

But this is the authentic account of the facts which lie behind Sells Bros." refusal to have a Wild West adjunct to their present show. - Kansas City Times.

A Growing Head. Boggs-1 understand that Gobbins will hardly speak to his friends since he was elected alderman. He is talking already of being a candidate for the presidency.

Knoggs-Yes, and his barber is already charging him double price for shampooing him -Detroit Free Press.

-The latest adaption of Yankee genius enables a man to go into the forest at day-break, chop down a tree, and with the assistance of a wood-pulp mill and a spry tailor, he may put on a pair of new trousers as the product of his industry in the evening.

Chocolate Caramels: Dissolve one pint of sugar in as little water as possi-ble, half a cup of butter, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one cupful of Then turning to his two frightened grated chocolate, boil all together until captives who stood near, the outlaw quite thick. Put in buttered tins and cut in squares when partly cooled

FOR TIME.

Oh! For time, amid life's rush,
To learn the bird's free note;
To list the evening's gentle hush;
To watch fair clouds affort;
To mark the grace of flowers and leaves,
With a sense of all their sweet;
To rea the charms that nature weaves
In the green turf at our feet.

Oh! for time for thoughtful heed If the good e'en we might do Of the joy that romes W a loving deed, Or an act that is just or true; Out of the night so dark that speeds, Whenever may be the morn.

On this dear earth, with its charms and nece No other day shall flawn. Oh: for lime, in the rush and the race

To turn our feet saide.
The beauty of earth and sky to trace,
And the charm of ocean wide:
To note in the wild and jetting throng.
Some follow crushed or driven.
And rive our hand as we extal@ndf
This were is well have striven.

— J. A. Kennedy in Lesile's Weekly.

CAPTURED AN OUTLAW.

While Carrying Glad News to a Ticket-of-Leave Man-

bluecoats have er, the bushranger, this time, unless you can stow me away in your hut until they pass." "How can 1 bers did not dare to question the orders give you shelter in the cab-in. Bob? You silence. lice come they will not even leave the hearthstone unturned in their search."

Then Ill sit here in voir doorway and prepare to give the officers a warm reception," replied the outlaw as he threw himself from the back of his jaded steed, and drawing his revolvers scated himself near the entrance to the rude abode which sheltered the ticketof-leave man, William Stewart.

'No, no," exclaimed the latter; "you shall commit no murder on these premses. Look, you are armed, and take by force what I rather would keep from you."

"What do you mean, Will?" asked the robber quickly,

"I mean," replied the other, thought fully, "that Black Duke, the fleetest horse between the sea coast and Ballarat, is feeding in the shed back of the hut. Your weapons are loaded, you are a desperate man. How, then, can I prevent you if you see fit to take the "By beavens, Will, I understand ou," exclaimed the bushranger, as he grasped the hand of the ticket-of-leave man; "and believe me, the time will come when you will have occasion to thank God that you extended me this help;" and the outlaw dashed the rowels of his spars into the horse's side and rode tapidly away.

Searcely had the hoof-beats of Black

Duke died away than a cloud of dust olis, out of which soon appeared a company of mounted police. Dashing up to the hut the leader called: "Ah, Stewart, where is that ruscal,

"Yes, licutenant, that is the bushranger's horse, but the man has gone."

"Which way? Where? How?" "He forced the Duke into his service ad rode away on his back, sir." "What?" exclaimed the officer; "did the villain steal your horse? Why did you not shoot him deal?"

"Because I was unarmed." "A likely story," returned the lieu-tenant, angrily. "But we must go after When the bell tapped for the Wild West scene then began the most extraordinary conflict witnessed since Nero Hooked upon the gladiatorial steel. The leave man out of your sight. And you, " sents were packed with eager spectations. All the country side had come out to see. In the usual fashion the "But there is the Duke, man! Mount, him and escape, 'said Stewart.

"No, no, my friend," exclaimed the bushranger. "It must come sooner or soft are provisions, him and escape, 'said Stewart.

"No, no, my friend," exclaimed the bushranger. "It must come sooner or soft are provisions, him and escape, 'said Stewart.

"No, no, my friend," exclaimed the bushranger. "It must come sooner or soft are provisions, this and the transportation, if the whole side dealers in your eity could entrait the sum of the country side had come out to see. In the usual fashion the The lieutenant was destined, how them are scattered chests and boxes with their contents of wearing apparel and toilet articles.

'I'LL GIVE THE OFFICERS A WARM BE CEPTION."

Near them, lying on the ground, are three men, their arms pinioned. "Ladies," began Fletcher, as be an proached the two women, "I am sorry to trouble you, but I must take a look into the trunk."

"Oh, sir," answered the younger of treasure of countiess value, not only to our poor captives, but to another, vhose life has, alas, been all too sad." The maiden took from her neck : golden chain, from which was suspended a key, and handed both to the

On the top were a few articles o feminine clothing, which the bushranger removed with somewhat more delicacy than might have been expected in one of his stamp. Suddenly he started, rose almost to his feet, then seized the burning knot through and recover. I'se mighty hard from his attendant's grasp, while he exclaimed in a hoarge voice "Go join your comrades and tell them to stop all further search for our prisby my hand. Go."

"Women, come hither and tell me whose likeness is that," and the rol ber chief pointed to a large photograph of a fine-locking youngman.

"It is the picture of him whom you are this night to despoil of his dearest treasure, proof of the innocence of a crime under the stigma of which he has labored these many years."

"His name, a say; his name." exlaimed the bushranger. "It is written in his own hand on the back of the picture.

As the robber turned the calinet he read: "Yours, with unchanging love, William Stewart."

For a moment the outlaw remained silent, gazing at the signature, then he returned the likeness to its place in the trunk, and to his captives he said in a voice husky with emotion: "Ladies, I beg you will forgive me for the treatment you have received from me and my band. To the original of that picture I owe my life. A friend of his, or one who could but speak his name, shall ever find safety and kindly treatment at the hands of Bob Fletcher, Before the two women could recover from their surprise their captor had drawn the keen blade of his knife across the bonds which had secured their fellow-prisoners, and in a voice that rang from tree to tree he ordered his band to replace every article as they had found it, and load all again into the wagon from which they had been taken. Though much surprised, the rob-of their chief, but obeyed in sullen As the sun began to gild the tree tops a heavy covered wagon, drawn by two the long lash of his whip when he was joined by those who were traveling in his company, two ladies and three men. One of the latter was mounted on a horse whose glossy hair was black as midnight. As the rider drew rein be ealled in a cheery voice: "Oh, Will Stewart! Come I've arose from the direction of the metrop- so kindly loaned me some months since."

"WHOSE LIKENESS IS THAT?"

While the outlaw was speaking be had dismounted and assisted one of the ladies to do likewise. It was the Fletcher? Hereabout, I dare say, for younger and handsomer of the two, there is his horse that we have chased and as her delicate foot touched the younger and handsomer of the two, ground she raised her veil, and turnfolding his arms across his chest he walked forward to meet the officers.

rould be left of us if all those who see inconsistencies in us should clip away from our character and reputation? It is an invariable rule that those who ake the roughest work with the faults of others are those who have themselves the most imperfections. When you hear evil of anyone suspend judgment. Do not decide till you have heard the man's defense. Do not run out to meet every heated whelp of malice that runs with its head down and its tongue out. The probability is that it is mad, and will only bite those who attempt to entertain it.-Talmage.

Where Freedom Shines Foreigner-This may be a free cor try, but I don't see that the freedom has any effect on the people. Such a patient, meck, subdued lot of humanity never saw in my life. I should think a free-born American would act as if he wert monarch of all he surveyed. Natize-Wait until you see a passen

Col. Gore-Well, Uncle Rastus, I hear you have been sick. My brother, the doctor, treated you, didn't he? Uncle Rastus-Yes, sah, he did, sah But thank de good Lawd I done pull ter kill, sah, for a fact.-Munsey's Weekly.

ger car brakeman who expects soon to be a conductor.-Good News.

-A Man of Deeds.-Hyde-"Corne lotte, the real-estate dealer, is a very silent man." Parker-"Quite natura considering his business. A man of deeds, you know, is seldom a man of words."-Saturday Evening Herald.

OPPOSING OPINIONS

In Relation to National Bankruptcy Legislation

Banker and the Author of the Torrey Bankrupt Bill as to the Merits

Sr. Louis, Aug. 10.-The following torrespondence is given out as embody-ing information of interest to those who are following the course of bankruptey legislation by the congress of the United States SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH; June 28, 1891.

fon. Jay L. Torrey, President of the Nationa' Concention of the Representatives of Commercial Bodies, St. Louis, Mo. DEAR SIR - Yours of the 19th inst. is rereived. A copy of your bill and documents rou mentioned have not yet reached me, but it makes no difference as I have been deluged of late with the same kind of litera-ture, which appears to be as plentiful as campaign documents during a presidential

I have carefully perused the "Torrey Bankruptey Bill," and find it no better or worse than the old one which was repealed after it was found to be utterly useless. The bill was found to be utterly useless. The bill has vidence of a well-paid attorney's plea for a client with a doubtful case. I have neither time, disposition nor ability to answer in detail, and will simply say that the measure is in line with trusts, which have in view centralization and the ruin of merchants with small capital by taking from them the power to make preferences, which is the only way they have to obtain credit from a banker or money loaner, as most of small dealers have no security to offer other that their stock of goods, which, of course; is not available as collateral. Hence, all they have to offer is their wird that in ease of tremble they will prefer horrowel money, which no same, homest person can say is not more just than claims made from any other source.

For instance, a merchant commences busi-For instance, a mirrhant commences luistices. he purchases goods from a wholesale house, say, three times a year. The profits on each bill would be from 19 to 29 per cent. —average 15 per cent. at the end of the year would amount to 45 per cent. Now, suppose he borrows from a hank when he commences he borrows from 19 to 29 per cent. Now, suppose he borrows from a hank when he commences who still you want to the seller of articles which the wholesale man is 35 per cent, ahead of the banker, should the dealer fail at the end of hanker, should the dealer fail at the end of the year.

The "bill" is in the interest of eastern wholesale-dealer centir-dy; they are desirous of sending their drummers into every nook and handed to compete with the local wholesale merchants, which, of course, can be done, having no taxes or license to pay, and minus the expense of carrying stocks of goods, as the local wholesale dealers have to do, if they can only force the passage of the bankrupty bill, so that they will come in equally in case of failure with the banker and local creditors.

The above points are about all I can give to you at the present writing, owing to lack of time, but think they amply suffice to demonstrate the weakness and inconsisteately of time. For this contract the weakness and inconsisteately of the "bill," so far as the interests of the dealers and bankers of the west are concerned.

Very respectfully yours, w. S. McConsick.

W. S. McConsick.

W. S. McConsick.

W. S. McConsick, but Lack City, Club.

Digan Sir. I have your favor of the 20th nillimo, and thank you very much for writing at length, and carnestly hope that you will be ar with me while I controver your position, and in r. ply hereto give me the position, and in r. ply hereto give me the position, and in r. ply hereto give me the will be ar with me while I controver i your position, and in r ply hereto give me the full benefit of your further views upon the

The greatest objections to the old law, as moderstand, and the ones which are para-mount in securing its repeal after being in three eleven years, were the delays encoun-turned to the court. He will, therefore, be interested in ending each case as soon as possible. The trustee, who is to represent the creditors, will receive a commission, not upon the income of the estate nor simply the outgo, but only upon the dividends actually paid to creditors. He, therefore, will be interested in having the dividends paid quickly, and as large as possible. The amount is a per centum on the first $5,000 or part there of, paid in dividends, 2 per centum on the second sum of like amount, and 1 per centum on additional sums.

The above provisions will, we are confident, result in the quick and inespensive administration of lunkrantev estates.

What you mean by your statement that the bill as a very carefully-prepared piece of legicilation, I beg to thank you, and to say that your views are in accord with the leading business men and bankers of the country, and a large majority of the members of the house of representatives of the last congress. Concerning the "well-paid attorney," as to the "plea for a client with a doubtful case," I will call your attention to the fart solvents of the country, hundreds of thou sands of whom will be relieved from their burdens of debt pursuant to its provisions, will constitute me a "well-paid attorney," As to the "plea for a client with a doubtful case," I will call your attention to the fact that this egislation was provided for in the federal constitution at the time of its adoption, and is in line with legislation on the federal constitution at the time of its adoption, and is in line with legislation on the federal constitution at the time of its adoption, and is in line with legislation on the subject in all civilized countries. Our government presents the solitars spectuale of a national bankrapety law. The passage of this measure will promote honesty, provent dishonesty, diminish the number of failures, increase the amount paid by insolvents.

This measure was passed by the last house of representances by a large majority; it is a possibile. The condit does not, therefore, seem to us to be a 'doubtful case'

The bill is not in line, as you suggest, with trusts, which have in view centralization, nor will it be the ruin of merchants with small capital, but, on the contrary, it will prevent centralization and the ruin of such merchants. Under the laws now in force in most of the states and territories, merchants with small capital are absolutely and unconditionally at the mercy of the wholesale dealers and bankers; that is, as soon as one of them is even suspected of insolvency, or as soon as a single creditor conceives the suspicion that he is about to prefer his banker or another creditor, such creditor levies an attachment, and the result is a struggle between the creditors and against the debtor, which, irrespective of his actual financial condition, necessarily results in a The bill is not in line, as you suggest, with trusts, which have in view centralization, nor will it be the ruln of merchants with small capital, but, on the contrary, it will prevent centralization and the ruin of such most of the states and territories, merchants with small capital are absolutely and unconditionally at the mercy of the wholesale dealers and bankers; that is, as soon as one of them is even suspected of insolvency, or as soon as a single creditor conceives the suspicion that he is about to prefer his banker or another creditor, such creditor levies an attachment, and the result is a struggle between the creditors and against the debtor, which, irrespective of his actual financial condition, necessarily results in a sacrifice sale of his property, the dissipation of his good will, and of his being left with a hopeless burden of debt. Under the pro-posed law a conservative tone will be en-gendered between the debtor and creditor classes, and as it will be absolutely imposi-ble for the creditors to take advantage of the debtor or of each other, the breaking up in business of morchants with small capital will be the exception, and not the rule, as at present.

present.

The merchants with small capital in your territory will favor the passage of this bill, because under it, in the event of misfortune, their rights will be protected according to the rules of equity, and if they can not secure a compromise, they will, if honest men, be discharged and given an opportunity to start a financial career anew. vided that claimants to trust funds, in the event the amount was not sufficient to liqui-date the entire amount, be distributed pro-fath duoti; the "reditors Would not this same rule redound to the best litterests of the honest business find and the Honest banker? We think so, and so do the great ountry.

Every man most die. As a result there are probate laws for the distribution of estates of deceased persons in every givilized com-munity on earth. Every one of those laws provide for a pro rata payment of claims o the same class. Statistics show that over 50 per centum of business men fails Ough we not, therefore, to have an equitable con mercial probate law, such as we propose?

I thank you very much for your statemen and illustration of the comparative per centages received by oankers and je retail merchants. It seems trong ; point that because the wholesale house makes a larger percentage on its risks than you do, that it is right and proper in the you do, that it is right and proper in the should pay the principal of your claim i full before he pays any part of the principa of the claim of the wholesale merchan that theory. Some articles of merch indis-are sold on a very close margin; some with out any margin at all, and some at a ver large profit. Some merchants borro-money from their relatives without the pay ment of interest. Of course, you would have this rule which you invoke applied to all of the creditors of the retail merchant. There-banker, should the dealer fail at the end of the year.

Now, then, suppose that the man should last three years, not a very long time, and should fail; how would matters stant with the wholesale merchants and bankers? The former would have made 155 per sent, and the latter 30 per cent, if the above is correct, and it can not be controverted. I would like to ask how you harmonize this with common honesty and justice? One goes in with 35 per bent, profit over and above the cost of the goods, and the other 70 per cent, behind. It does appear that comment is unnecessary, and yet we are told that the measure was gotten up with "an honest purpose."

The "bill" is in the interest of eastern wholesale-dealers-entirity; they are desirous of sending their drummers into every nook and hambet to compete with the local wholesale-dealers entirity; they are desirous of sending their drummers into every nook and hambet to compete with the local wholesale-dealers entirely; they are desirous of sending their drummers into every nook and hambet to compete with the local wholesale dealers in your supported by the wholesale dealers and with the time in good faith; but you will not be permitted to take all of the will only intered at the time in good faith; but you will not be permitted to take all of the vention in most your claim after diaxing made a local will not be permitted to take all of the vention in most vention and interest permitted to take all of the vention in most vention and the thing and the other permitted to take all of the vention in most vention an

Suppose for a moment that we admit the truth of your state neat, which we do not, ground she raised her veil, and turning said in a low volce:

"William! have you forgotten me?"

For a moment the ex-convict and the brave girl stood, lost to all the world, when their bliss was broken in upon by heavy hoof-beats hurrying toward them. Looking up the party descriced a body of police.

"Ah Will, you see," coolly remarked Fletcher. "you see they are after me."

"But there is the Buke, man! Mount him and escape, 'said Stewart.

"It was will consider a the private of the interior of the prices of the merces ties of the recessities of tife to the people, and while the loral wholesa'e dealers will be dealers ontsell the loral wholesa'e dealers will be dealers of the necessities of tife to the people, and while the loral wholesa'e dealers will be deprived of a part of their trade, the great body of the people will be refused, be dealers will be decayed, be dealers will be deprived of a part of their trade, the great body of the people will be refused, be cause the passage of the bill will reline the lazier of business. that the eastern and or the western jobbers

the inside of the hulls again for its place of would was expressed its desirable to the sheep-sheeler's hat empty and the sheep-sheeler's hat early the sheep shee out a national tankruptcy law. The passage of this measure will promote honesty, prevent dishonesty, diminish the number of failures, increase the amount paid by insolvent estates, reduce the hazzards of business, enable honest poor men who can not pay their debts to get a new start in life, and cheapen the price of commodities. It does not, therefore, seem to us to be a "doubtful ease".

passed.
The State Bankers association of Iowa

play "Alabama."

Ix proportion to population, friends
Ayres has the largest number of daily

THE Chicago public library is open-ing free reading rooms in the different parts of the city, hoping that they may be an antidote to the saloons. The highest price for a modern print, 8125, was paid for the first state of Merron's elching. "L'Abside de Notre Dame;" at the recent auction of his works in Paris. REFERRING to the unpublished address of Horace Greeley in the last Century Magazine, Lloyd's Weekly London Newspaper says: "The Arctic explorer's portrait figures as frontispiece."

Fact! HAPRY FURNISS, the gifted London artist, has a grievance. Another artist, whose name is Harold Furniss, has been signing "II. Furniss" to some inferior drawings. This is Harry Furniss' signature.

LITERARY society in London has been showing marked attention to Mrs. Gen. Custer during her visit there. She has made a favorable impression on every-one, which is not singular, considering her popularity in America.

QUEENLY WOMEN.

THE late Duchess de Croy-Dulmer was one of the last of the grandes dames of the second empire. She was beautiful woman, and in the forest huntress.

MME. ALICE LE PLONGEON, the Yucatan explorer, goes about small, dark, bright eyed, piquant, with a large pale green brooch at her throat, an arrowhead chipped by dead and forgotten Indians. Mrs. HARRISON don't take many sea baths down at Cape May. She likes to look at the salt water and is passionately fond of sketching sea and shore, but she does not enjoy actual contact with the billows. "SABAH" BERNHARDT was named Rosine by her parents, who were French and Dutch respectively. Her first appearance on the stage was at the Theater Francaise in "Iphegene." She is forty-seven in years, but dates back, spiritually at least, as far as Cleo-ty-two students.

The Scottish mission, which has its headquarters at Jerusalem, reports the conversion of six Jews to Presbyterian ogy and to five in music. ENGLAND is to have free education after September 1. It has taken our British cousins some time to set their feet in our steps, but they are coming along quite handsomely.

A Young Women's Christian association, similar in all its workings to the Young Men's Christian association, has been organized at Dayton, O., with one hundred and three members. THE Irish Presbyterian Zenana mis sion has now seven missionaries in India and three in China, all of whom are doing good work, and its income las year was about three thousand three undred pounds sterling. The St. Louis Exposition

The St. Louis Exposition.

The Eighth Annual St. Louis Exposition will open Wednesday, September 2, and close October 17.

The past history of this great industrial Exposition is one of inter-State pride, and its marked success for the past seven years is the guarantee that this year will equal in every respect and exceed in many ways the varied exhibits of the Arts, Mechanics and Sciences. The departments will have displays from every line of industry and business. The Art Department will have the best examples, to which will be added a fine collection of oriental musical instruments, lacquers, ivories, and other works of merit from China and Japan.

Gilmore's celebrated band will be in attendance each day, and furnish music in the afternoons and evenings.

America's general progress will be faithfully portraved, and the revelations in all branches of industrial achievements will be anusually complete and instructive. All the railroads will give reduced rates.

"I guess," said the street-car driver, wh reads the market reports, as he reached for his whig, "that I will have to do something to overcome this stagnation in stock."— Washington Star.

The complexion becomes clear, the skin free from eruptive tendencies, the appetite and digestion improved, aches and pains cease, the body grows stronger, sound sleep at night a habit, and the general bealth every way better when Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla is made use of. The minister who prepares the peo-sermon is generally the best compose Binghamton Leader.

Mr friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know tha Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her. Now why not be fair about it and buy her a box! Thouse not catchy, the song of the bac fence warbler is undoubtedly cat-chin.—In dianapolis Journal.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, August 11, 1891. CATTLE-Native Steers $ 3 25 \(\pi \) 6 90
COTTON-Midding $ \(\pi \) 85
FLOUR-Winter Wheat $ 15 \(\pi \) 5 25
WHEAT-No. 2 Red $ 85\(\pi \) 1 0 \(\pi \) (ORN-No. 2 $ 70 \(\pi \) 7 10
OATS-Western Mixed $ 42 \(\pi \) 44
FORK-New Mess 12 00 \(\pi \) 12 59 FORK-New Mess.
ST. LOUIS.
COTTON-Middling
BEEVES-Fancy Steers.
Shipping
HOGS-Common to Select.
SHEEP-Fair to Choice. TOBACCO-Lugs Leaf flurley...
HAY-Clear Timothy
RUTTER-Choice Dairy EGGS-Fresh ORK-Standard Mess. BACON-Clear Rib. SHEEP-Fair to Choice... FLOUR-Winter Patents... Soring Patents...

WHEAT-No. 2 Spring

LITERARY AND ART NOTES.

J. J. WALLACE, the actor, says he never laid claim to the authorship of the play "Alabama."

This receipts of the Paris salon for 1891 were 315,000 frames, against 238,000 in 1890 were 315,000 frames against 238,000 in 1890 were 315,000 frames. But the filter and they will color for "Crescent" trade mark. Head the acarefully and when you find the word, send it to them and they will return you a book, besutful lithographs and sample free.

"How pale the creatif looks," said the housekeeper. "Yes'm," repined the cook; "it's been whipped, mum."—Epoch.

"It's been whipped, mum."—Epoch.

Don't be Balldozed

Don't be Balldored

Don't be Baildoxed

By a febellious liver. Though it may refuse to be brought into subjection by ordinary cathartics and choistogues, though it may continue to destroy your pace with its manifold unpleasant symptoms, be assured that Hostetter's Stemach Bitters will effectually discipline it, promptly rectify its irregularities. Malaria, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney complaints are also remedied by the Bitters.

"Our parfot is dead," wrote a little girl, "and a poll seems to have settled over the family."—Texas Siftings.

How CRUEL to force children to take usety worm medicines. Dr. Bull's Worm De-stroyers are always sure and taste like dainty little candies. "Dene's millions in it." said the old darky, as he gazed over the fence at the water-meion patch.—Binghamton Republican.

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. In casting about for a national flower, the wall-flower, as usual, is quite forgotten.all-flower, as oston Transcript.

Saa air roughens the skin. Use Glenn's Biliousness, dizziness, nausea, headache, are relieved by small doses of Carter's Lit-tie Liver Pills.

THE scholar who takes the first prize in arithmetic is only a figure-head.—Beston Courier. Tue best cough medicine is Piso's Cure for Consumption. Sold everywhere. 25c.

The end

larities, "Favorite Prescription" the only medicine that's guaranteed. If it doesn't give satisfaction in ev-At the university of Pennsylvania, where women are striving to gain full admission, certificates were granted this year to five women students in his core and to five women s

The easiest way is the best. Reg-ulate the liver, stomach, and bowels with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cleanse and renovate the system—thoroughly and naturally. Sick Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, and Bilious Attacks, are prevented, relieved, and cured.

"German Syrup" For Coughs & Colds.

John F. Jones, Edom, Tex., writes-I have used German Syrup for the past six years, for Sore Cough, Colds, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine-German Syrup is the best.

B.W. Baldwin, Carnesville, Tenn.,

writes: I have used your German Syrup in my family, and find it the best medicine I ever tried for coughs and colds. I recommend it to everyone for these troubles. R. Schmalhausen, Druggist, of Charleston, Ill., writes: After trying scores of prescriptions and prepara-tions I had on my files and shelves, without relief for a very severe cold, which had settled on my lungs, I tried your German Syrup. It gave me immediate relief and a perma-G. G. GREEN, Sole Manufacturer,

Woodbury, New Jersey, U. S. A. ASTHMA WE WILL SEND YOU TESTIMONY

FROM PEOPLE WHO LIVE NEAR YOU. CURED STAY CURED P.JHAROLD HAYES, M. D., BUFFALO, M. T.

The Soap that

Cleans Most

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, head aches and fevers and cures habitual constitution. Syrup of Figs is the constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects recovered only for the many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Symp of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will pro-cure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its back, spiritually at least, as far as Cleopatra.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOWIZVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, M.Y.

Sixce Cabanel, the French portraitpainter, has pronounced Miss Mattic Mitchell, the Oregon senator's daughter, the most beautiful woman ever seen in Paris, the claim of her admirers that she is the prettiest girl in Washington will probably be no longer disputed.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH ITEMS.

Vassar's most popular instructor is Miss Mary W. Whitney, the professor of astronomy.

Durans last year Cambridge university matriculated nine hundred and fifty-two students.

The end

of woman's peculiar troubles and ailments comes with Dr. Pierce's BANDE INTERMENTAL HIS BANDE INTERMENTAL HIS BEST SHOE IN THE WORLD FOR THE WOR on their merits, as the increasing sales show.

Ladies $3.00 Hand-sewed shoe, best imported shoes costing from $4.00 M. The control of the cost imported shoes costing from $4.00 M. The cost imported shoes costing from $4.00 M. The cost in the cos

RELIEVES all Stomach Distr REMOVES Nausea, Sense of Pullness, Congestion, Pain. REVIVES FAILING ENERGY.
RESTORES Normal Circulation, and WARMS TO TOR TIPS. DR. HARTER MEDICINE CO., St. Louis. Me-

A J TOWER, MER. BOSTON, MASS Crimps. LIFE'S HISTORY:

Tutt's Liver Pills

SURE ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA:

Price, 25c. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y. Constipation Cured WITHOUT MEDICINE, CHANGE OF DIET OR ENEMA.

University of Illinois.

YOUNG MEN Learn Telegraphy and Railr 1356 A. N. K., B.